Editors note: I interviewed Ben Farhi earlier this week. Ben has been a long time reader and contributor to DobberHockey, and he now finds himself in San Francisco working in a management role witht the ECHL's San Francisco Bulls. We talked about his experiences in pro hockey, what he thinks of San Francisco, and even how DobberHockey has helped him out at his current gig.

Angus: What have your experiences in San Francisco been like so far? Have there been any big surprises?

[redacted] check the Bulls website out for more information. [redacted]