For example, if Kessel finishes the period with the most goals, whoever picked him gets five points. If you don't pick any of the top three players in a respective category, you end up with zero points for that category.

And the three entries with the highest combined point totals will win. We will use the all-mighty coin to settle any tiebreakers.

The scoring that is counted is from NHL games from Wednesday, February 13th until Tuesday, February 19th, inclusive (including the games on the 19th).
