From a Fantasy Hockey Standpoint...

For the last two seasons, DobberHockey has been first in posting the latest trade at the deadline - yes, even over TSN.ca and Sportsnet. After all, they find out about it and immediately put down the phone and report to the cameras. By the time their website writers type it up and post it...it's already posted here. The DobberHockey site is set up so that things like this can be posted quickly and easily - that's our edge.

But you want more than just a fast reporting website - you want the FANTASY REPURCUSSIONS. DobberHockey had the full analysis on every trade posted within minutes of the trade being announced last year and it will be more of the same this year.

We'll also have a discussion board opened up in the forum for comments/opinions on each trade.

Be sure to check out DobberHockey.com all day long on February 26, 2008 for the NHL trade deadline FANTASY coverage!!
