Introducing - DobberProspects.com

Dobber Sports announces the latest addition to the Dobber fantasy sports brand.

Darryl Dobbs, founder of Dobber Sports and the Dobber Sports Network, has launched a new website. DobberProspects.com , another free offering, is live and available to the public as of April 19, 2012.

The website was created to fulfill a growing hunger of fantasy hockey owners – and hockey fans in general – to have more prospects information. “The buzz that the DobberHockey Fantasy Prospects Report generates each year is astounding.” said Dobbs. “It became pretty clear to me that I could create an entire website on the concept that would complement the Prospects Report, and it would have the potential to become something special.”

“The demand for prospect information is endless.” added Jeff Angus, manager for DobberHockey. “Trying to peg upsides and projections based on a scouting report is often times frustrating.”

DobberHockey.com, the first website launched under the Dobber banner, has become a multi-million page views per month website in just six-and-a-half years of existence. The sixth edition of the Fantasy Prospects Report is scheduled for release on June 1, 2012, so the timing of the new site launch couldn’t have been better.

“Anticipation of the DobberProspects launch has been almost unbearable.” said Brendan Ross, manager for the new site. “DobberProspects will provide the fantasy hockey world with a resource bank full of up-to-date prospect profiles, an element that is often neglected on many sites, on players relevant to fantasy owners everywhere. The on-going updates from our team will provide our readers with the edge on their opponents.”

According to Dobbs, the focus will be on the young players, as opposed to feature pieces. Keeping the profiles updated with injury information, hot streaks, award s and signings is a big job. But at the same time, there will be an area for general hockey prospect musings. “Right where the Ramblings can be found on DobberHockey and DobberBaseball.”

“I think the most exciting aspect of the site is the relevancy of it.” said Angus. “Our player profiles will constantly be updated.”

“It will be my responsibility to provide the readers with honest opinions.” said Ross before giving us a final note. “Let’s enjoy the ride!”

Download the press release here