Each week going forward, Notch gives you his picks (and reasoning) behind Saturday's NHL games, for those Pro-line Sports Select gamblers!

Boston at Toronto

Toronto is playing well and should continue to roll while facing another back-up. Toronto is well rested as always, and Boston is playing their 3rd game in 4 nights. Expect at least 7 combined goals.

Toronto wins – H

Carolina at Montreal
Both teams are rested. Montreal has taken 2 of 3 this year, but all the games were played when Montreal was rolling. Carolina comes through this time.
Carolina wins – V

Atlanta at Washington
Both teams are tired. Atlanta is playing their 3rd in 4 and traveled last night. Washington is playing B-2-B games and had to travel through a time zone last night.
Atlanta wins - V

Minnesota at Columbus
This if the first meeting between the 2 in Columbus this year. Although they have split the 2 games they have played in Minny. Leclaire steals the show. Take the under here as well, I only see 4 goals being scored.
Columbus wins - H

NY Islanders at Tampa Bay
3 in 4 for the Isles with travel. DiPietro usually keeps games close, but Tampa will take this in a wash here, as the Lighting are well rested and have a history of dispatching the Islanders.
Tampa wins big – H+

Anaheim at Nashville
Anaheim won the first game between the two clubs on their home ice. Nashville still has a bad taste in their mouth from last years playoffs, and they will beat the tired Ducks.
Nashville wins - H

Pittsburgh at Vancouver
The Canucks rested Luongo for the sole purpose of putting a stop to Crosby and his Western Canada road trip. It doesn't hurt that The Penguins road trip was compressed. Luongo steals the show.
Vancouver wins - H

Phoenix at Los Angeles
Fresh off blasting the Sabres, Los Angeles easily beats Phoenix who are also playing 3 in 4 with travel. Teams that play 3 in 4 with travel between the final 2, B-2-B games are 4-23 this year.
Los Angeles wins big – H+

Buffalo at San Jose
Buffalo is embarrassed from their blow-out loss to The Kings. San Jose just did the same 3 in 4, B-2-B with travel that Phoenix did, therefore the same reasoning for The Sharks poor showing applies.
Buffalo – V

Proline ticket with a good payout*****
Tampa Bay – H+
Vancouver – H
Los Angeles – H+